

Nemak holds Analyst Day 2022

Monterrey, Mexico. November 14, 2022. Nemak, S.A.B. de C.V. (BMV: NEMAK) (“Nemak”, or the “Company”) today held its Analyst Day 2022 at its campus in Monterrey, Mexico. During the event, the management team shared a business overview with equity and fixed income analysts, highlighting Nemak’s progress to-date in the implementation of its long-term strategy to capitalize on the vehicle electrification trend and drive growth and transformation in its business: Transform to Grow.

Moreover, in light of continued advances toward the ramp up of its new product lines targeting the electric vehicle market (e-mobility, structure & chassis or “EV/SC”), the Company announced plans to disclose additional financial metrics for this segment starting in 2023.

The event featured the participation of Armando Tamez, CEO, and Alberto Sada, CFO, together with team members representing the following functional areas: Product Engineering; Manufacturing and Product Development; Research and Development; and Purchasing and Sustainability. Additionally, attendees participated in a series of facility tours spanning the Company’s main product lines.

Highlights and takeaways from the event are available at the following link.
